Task 1:

Hello World using the command line interface.

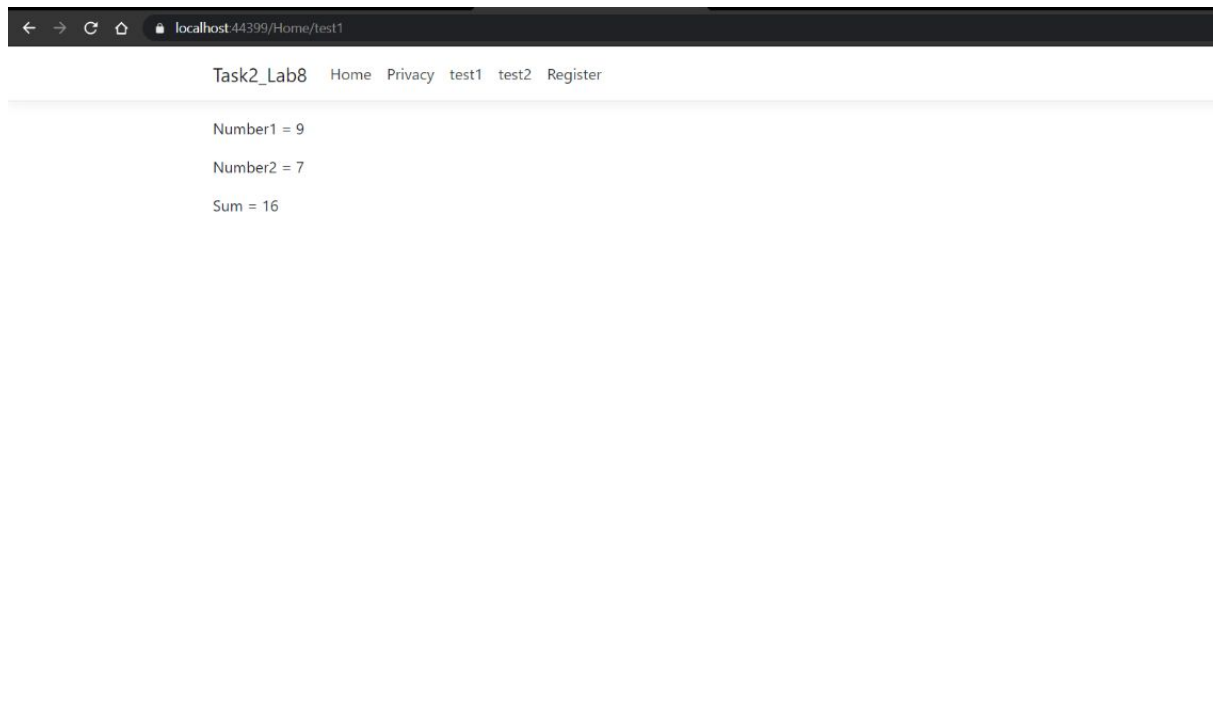

Task 2:

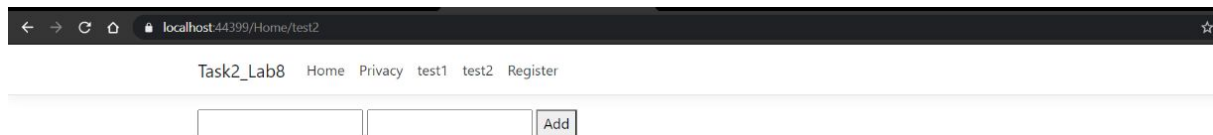

Modified index method and page which prints hello message.

Test1 page displaying addition of two numbers.

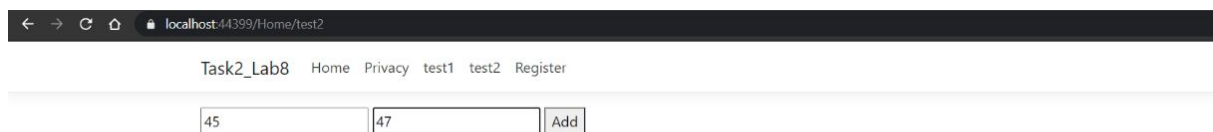

Test2 page.

A screenshot of a web browser window showing the 'Test2' page. The address bar displays 'localhost:44399/Home/test2'. The page has a navigation bar with links: 'Task2_Lab8', 'Home', 'Privacy', 'test1', 'test2', and 'Register'. Below the navigation bar, there is a form with two input fields and an 'Add' button. The first input field is empty, and the second input field is also empty.

Test2 page , entering two numbers as an input to the test2 post method.

A screenshot of the same web browser window showing the 'Test2' page. The address bar and navigation bar are the same. In the form, the first input field now contains the number '45' and the second input field contains the number '47'. The 'Add' button remains to the right of the second input field.
